2025 Gratitude Report

What your support made possible, in their words

LETTER FROM LEADERSHIP

The most important pages in this report weren't written by us.

They arrived in envelopes. In emails sent late at night. On pieces of paper handed over at the end of an Adventure.

Not polished. Not prompted. Just honest.

They came from parents, siblings, and children who wanted to hold onto a moment that mattered; and to thank the people who made it possible.

That means you.

Because when you read their words, what you'll find isn't recognition of an organization. You'll find something much more meaningful.

You'll find a parent describing the first time they were able to say "yes" without hesitation. A sibling who felt included instead of on the sidelines. A child who got to laugh, play, and simply be a kid again.

You helped expand Adventures so more families could attend without limits. You helped remove barriers that make it harder for families to show up and fully enjoy the experience.

You helped create not just a single day of joy, but something that lingers; connection, relief, and memories that families carry forward together.

Throughout this report, you'll see the impact in numbers. But more importantly, you'll feel it in their words.

We're so grateful that you are part of making those moments possible.

2025 Impact at a Glance

More families returned to Adventures in 2025

This year, we saw an increase in active families, meaning more families came back to Adventures again and again. That return matters. It means families found a place where they felt understood, supported, and able to make memories together beyond doctor visits and daily stress. Each Adventure welcomed more families on average, with participation per Adventure increasing by 5.5% in 2025.

To the wonderful folks at AKid Again,

My daughter Birdie is 4 years old and has had more appointments in her lifetime than most adults. She is followed by 15 departments at CCHMC, and our life often revolves around the unpredictability of her health. She hasn't yet realized that most kids don't have to deal with treatments, admissions, and medications like she does. But when that moment does come, I hope she can look back on her little life and see more than just hospitals. I want her to experience the richness of the world around her, take chances, and have a fun, joyous life. We have been holed up in our house, not doing much this winter, and I've felt I've been flacking on giving her those types of opportunities. Until today.

Today, we got all dolled up with hair, makeup (she calls it lipstick), dresses, and accessories to attend the Valentine's Day Bash. She ate all of our cupcakes, danced her heart out, and adopted a little monster stuffed she named "Disco". She loved getting her face painted like a lion! What struck me the most? My husband asked me as we were walking in: "Wait, how will we know if any other CFers are here?" (People w/ cystic fibrosis are contagious only to each other) As we approached the check-in desk, we saw a basket of buttons that said "CF warrior". I have never felt so seen. So welcomed. So at ease. Someone thought of that so that I wouldn't have to worry. So that I could just be a kid again. Thank you for this wonderful memory.

♥ Meredith Barnett [mom of Birdie Barnett]

The moments that made “Yes” possible

Philadelphia

“We learned what was possible.”

One mom shared this through tears:

“Six Flags made me cry today. I always dreamt of my daughter riding roller coasters, but never thought it was possible because she was born without a leg. Today, I learned that my daughter will be able to ride.”

What changed wasn't just access to a theme park.

It was the realization that a moment once imagined as impossible could suddenly become real.

Indiana

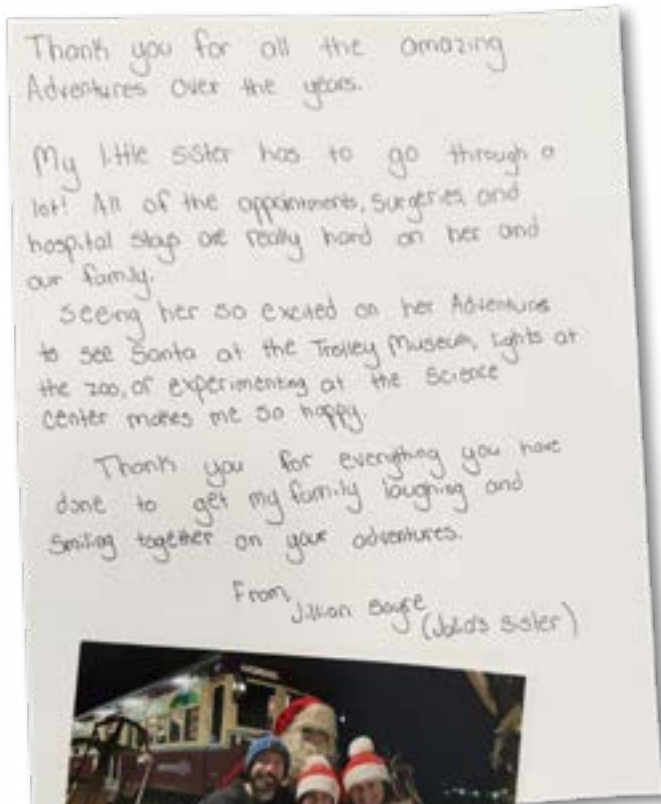

“They remembered us.”

Sometimes the most meaningful part of an Adventure isn't the experience itself. It's how a family feels while they're there and after they leave.

Through the leadership of Kenny Moore II, former Indianapolis Colts cornerback and A Kid Again advisory board member, and the generosity of the Love One Foundation, more families across Indiana experienced that feeling this year.

A feeling of being seen. Recognized. Valued.

“Getting to meet [Kenny] once was incredible but meeting him again and having him recognize us meant even more. It's clear how deeply he cares about his community, his family, A Kid Again and the organizations that matter to him. My kids think he's the coolest, and so do we.”

Michigan

“The only normal kid thing they do is go to school. Everything else is therapies and doctors' appointments.”

For families in Michigan, normal is often out of reach.

At Little Caesars Arena, more than 1,000 family members gathered for an unforgettable night with the Detroit Pistons.

Some children received Pistons gear. Some stood on the court during the anthem. Others joined the Fan Tunnel. Families were also welcomed into The Gondala Boxes, a unique, semi-private, high-altitude viewing area suspended from the rafters, where they got a birds-eye view of the game.

Because of the Detroit Pistons and our supporters, the night became more than an event.

Central Ohio

"For a moment, everything felt normal."

Normal can feel out of reach for families navigating complex conditions. But when the right support is in place, something powerful happens.

This year, grant support expanded the mission to families who can't always attend Adventures due to hospitalization or illness. The grant support made new Kindness Kits possible.

Created in collaboration with the Walter Family Foundation and the Center for Human Kindness at the Columbus Foundation, these kits deliver moments of joy directly to enrolled children, up to twice each year.

The support is already helping grow the program, with plans to double its reach in Central Ohio and expand into Southwest Ohio and Northern Ohio.

Southwest Ohio

"We didn't have to say no."

For many families, the hardest part isn't wanting to say yes. It's everything that makes "yes" feel out of reach.

This year, that changed. Growing support in Southwest Ohio expanded what an Adventure could look like for families across the region.

Birthday Bash Adventures happened in both Dayton and Cincinnati, giving families more opportunities to celebrate together. And an additional BB Riverboat Cruise meant more families could enjoy the unique experience.

What changed isn't just capacity. It's access. It's ease. It's the ability for families to simply show up and enjoy the moment together.

Northern Ohio

"When we walked in, it felt like we were part of something bigger."

In Northern Ohio, partnership creates possibility.

Through the Kaulig Companies Championship at Firestone Country Club and the Northern Ohio Golf Charities Foundation, support for A Kid Again continues to grow.

For A Kid Again families, that support becomes access to Adventures, connection, and belonging.

"It is unbelievable the amount of time, energy, and money it takes to get out of the house. Opportunities like this are so rare for families like mine. I absolutely cannot believe how much [my son] loved clapping and being free (and encouraged!) to yell as loud as he wanted to. We all made a core memory today and we are so, so grateful."
